Setting priorities for the next five-years

The 2017 Recreation Master Plan is a ten-year plan completed to guide Rocky Mountain House Region's (RMHR) allocation of services and overcome challenges identified by the community in the parks and recreation system. In the past five-years significant facility updates have been completed. Considering this and shifts in community priorities; the Recreation, Parks and Community Services Board would like to engage the community to refocus the priorities established in 2017.

More information and facility updates of each recommendation can be found below in Appendix A.
