QUICK REFERENCE: KITCHEN CATCHER TIPS

Commercial kitchen catchers are available from many retailers, but you can use just about anything as a 'kitchen catcher'! This is the name given to the box, container, bucket or pail you keep in your kitchen to store daily organic waste. If you are new to composting, here are some easy tips:

- Wrap food scraps in food-soiled paper, newspaper or paper bags.
- Collect food scraps in a cereal box or tissue box (remove any plastic lining first!) or a reusable container.
- Line your kitchen catcher with newspaper or a paper bag and when it's full simply dump it in our green cart!
- Keep your kitchen catcher handy - on your counter or under the sink. Discard your food scraps and paper towels into it as you cook or clean up. If you're used to dropping kitchen scraps in the garbage, place your catcher next to it to get into the habit.
- Empty your kitchen catcher into your green cart regularly and especially before your collection day.

BONUS TIP!

Cooking for a crowd? If you know you'll have a lot of food scraps or plate scrapings, deposit them directly into an empty cereal box (with plastic liner removed). The whole box can go right in your green cart!

WHAT ABOUT THE SMELL?

Try these tips to eliminate odour:

- Sprinkle in some baking soda or wash your kitchen catcher with vinegar.
- Line your kitchen catcher with newspaper or your Green Cart with cardboard.
- Rinse your cart with a garden hose.
- Store your cart in a cool place out of the sun.
- Wrap food scraps in a paper towel, newspaper, paper bag or cardboard box.
- In summer, keep kitchen scraps in your freezer until collection day.
- Leave grass clippings on your lawn, or else mow and place clippings in your green cart just before collection day.
- Don't pack materials in tightly, or else they risk getting stuck in the cart during collection.
